

Olympic 1

Underwater photo studio with pre-set continuous lights, overhead grid system, jungle shower, LED Tunnel, and metal roll-up door.

Important! It's a self-check-in studio. There will be no employee at the front desk during your booking. Minimum rental is 2 hours.

This is the first in the US Underwater photo studio, which consists of a pool with two transparent windows for underwater photography. This allows you to shoot underwater photo and video footage without getting wet or using expensive underwater camera cases/rigs.

The water is kept warm at 86 degrees and fully filtered between each client. There is a working shower in the studio. Please keep in mind that we use chlorine to keep the pool clean. Do not swim in the pool if you are allergic or sensitive to chlorine.

Perfect and easy underwater photo or video is possible now, without getting in the water or a waterproof camera case.

Shooting underwater video or photo projects create a whole variety of questions and limitations:

Where to rent a pool?
How to control the light? (since most of the pools are outdoors and it’s hard to precisely control the sun)
Should you wait till the night and bring generators with powerful lights for real light features?
How to deal with those ugly blue pool steps and tiles in the background?
How to secure your lights while making sure they won’t fall into the water?
How many hours do you need to book the pool to have enough time for all this setup and breakdown?
Where to buy the expensive underwater camera cases (and what to do with them after your shoot?)

Planning and organizing an underwater project usually takes a lot of time, effort, and experience, not talking about the cost of all these camera cases and safety equipment needed.

But not anymore!

Olympic 1, the first pre-lit underwater rental photo studio brings you the perfect solution for your underwater photography and videography gigs.

Why rent a photo studio in Los Angeles for underwater shoots?
